

Making The Case For Nuclear Energy in the 21st Century

April 4th - Tuesday - 7:00 PM - Doors at 6:00 PM

Downstairs at Town Hall Seattle
1119 8th Ave (enter on Seneca St) in Seattle

For all ages - Register for free @ townhallseattle.org

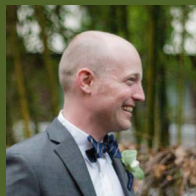

Leading scientists & world bodies say nuclear resources are key to combat climate change, yet widespread fear comes with the use of nuclear power. Considering drawbacks & dangers of nuclear energy, how can we utilize the carbon-free energy safely & affordably?

Featuring a panel of experts with national & global perspectives, join us to discuss on how we can use nuclear to fight climate change.

Dr. James Conca
Forbes.com contributor on energy & environment

Nick Touran
Reactor Physicist,
TerraPower

Kristin Zaitz
Senior Consulting Engineer,
Diablo Canyon Nuclear Plant

Scott Montgomery
Writer & Professor,
UW Jackson School of Intl. Studies

Presented by

Seattle Friends of Fission

